Generosity, Simplicity, and Authenticity

"The Lord will fulfill his purpose for me; your love, O Lord, endures forever—do not abandon the works of your hands." (Psalm 138:8)
A reminder of God's faithfulness and stick-to-it venues when it comes to his work and people. And so, about 100 days ago we said, "Here we go," into a new chapter and a new day for The Chapel. Much to be thankful for as the Lord continues the work he began here 75 years ago. His love endures forever!

I am grateful for faithful ministry staff. The Lord brought us three new members: Pastor Jon Platek, who brings a great pastor's heart and skill in the pulpit to the Akron Campus; Pastor David Fletcher brings leadership experience in becoming my partner in oversight and senior leadership as executive pastor; Janice Kelley, our new children's director, brings with her a vast array of ideas and experience in order to make ours the best children's ministry in the galaxy!

These past three months, you may have heard these important words a lot. Generosity: when we realize all we are and have come from God and can be used to glorify Christ, how can we not be generous? Simplicity: as in "this one thing I do" or as in worship, community, and mission. That's all. That's enough. Authenticity: we are real people with real life issues and real hope in Christ our Lord. That's why our worship is authentic and our relationships are real and we have an authentic concern for the world.

We need patience, faithfulness, and perseverance as we run the race God has set before us.

Maranatha! (a timeless greeting meaning, "Come, O Lord")
